

URGENT: Abound chicken & brown rice dog food recalled due to potential elevated levels of Vitamin D

(Photo by Bruce Bennett/Getty Images)

By: FOX 46 Web Staff

POSTED: NOV 21 2018 11:04AM EST

UPDATED: NOV 21 2018 11:52AM EST

CHARLOTTE, NC (FOX 46 WJZY) - Sunshine Mills, Inc. announced this week they're voluntarily recalling certain dog food products due to potential elevated levels of Vitamin D.

The products affected include:

- Abound Chicken & Brown Rice Dog Food, 4lb, UPC 0001111083556
- Abound Chicken & Brown Rice Dog Food, 14lb, UPC 0001111083573

This dog food is sold in many North Carolina and South Carolina grocery stores including Harris Teeter. The local grocery store said they've removed the recalled products from its shelves.

"If you purchased any of these items, please do not allow your pet(s) to consume them. Instead, return them to your Harris Teeter for a full refund," Harris Teeter said in a written statement.

Excessive vitamin D in dogs could lead to vitamin D toxicity. Such symptoms may include:

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|----------------------|
| • Vomiting | • Blood in vomit |
| • Weakness | • Loss of weight |
| • Depression | • Constipation |
| • Loss of appetite | • Seizures |
| • Increased thirst (polydipsia) | • Muscle tremors |
| • Increased urination (polyuria) | • Abdominal pain |
| • Dark tarry feces containing blood | • Excessive drooling |

If you believe your dog is suffering from vitamin D toxicity, you should contact your veterinarian.

For more information, you can also contact Sunshine Mills at 1-800-705-2111.