

Guarantee

Green means Go and Red means Stop!

GoughNuts Guarantee - If your dog chews through the outside wear layer, Green or Black, to expose the indication layer, Red, GoughNuts will replace your toy. GoughNuts patent pending, "Chew Toy Safety Indicator" is a mechanism for the dog owner to see a clear indication of when to take the GoughNut from the dog.

Return Procedure - If you see a red indication, return the GoughNut to:

GoughNuts LLC
217 Lois Ave
Modesto, CA 95350

Please include a check for $5.25 that covers the priority shipping of a new GoughNut back to you. If you live in Canada the check should be for $19.95. We are working with team sellers to create a point within each country to return damaged GoughNuts. Please be patient with us as we continue into our world wide expansion. We will evaluate the toy damage and return a new toy. This return or guarantee policy is one of our commitments to your dogs safety. Please do not allow your dog to continue chewing the GoughNut if red is indicated. The safety premise is designed to give clear indication to show when the toy is damaged and is an instruction or indication to take the GoughNut away from the dog. Following this instruction or visible indication is a design to help prevent intestinal blockage. Intestinal blockage is a serious safety issue and in worst case scenarios can kill your dog.

In general a chew toy is designed to withstand the aggressive chewing of your dog. The GoughNut is designed with diameters that are sized to make it difficult for your dog to destroy or damage the GoughNut. Please read the entire pending patent called, "Chew Toy Safety Indicator" on line. It is important to know that manufacturing like life is not perfect. Therefore whether a chew toy has a defect or your dog simply has the power to destroy a toy, as soon as the original design of the toy is compromised the toy must be taken away from the dog. This instruction will help keep your dog safe.

Any red indication is an indication to take the toy away. We will only congratulate you for taking the toy away when the smallest amount of red is present. Many dog owners have followed our patent pending instruction showing us that the premise is working. Please make every effort to keep your dog safe. No chew toy is indestructible.

Safety, Safety, Safety - We want your damaged GoughNut back. This is our investment into your dogs safety. Every dog owner has the responsibility to check the toys that your dog is chewing. All toys should be taken away when damaged to help prevent blockage. Please contact me or your veterinarian for further discussion.

Correct sizing is as important as any safety feature. Choose a chew toy that is big in your dogs mouth. The chew toy should appear large in your dogs mouth. When you have a doubt about what size to choose, please ask a pet professional for help. As a rule make sure the chew toy is larger in size than the distance between your dogs back molars when measuring across the jaw.

"This should be fun, because our pets are fun. Pet toys should be safe because we love our pets."

Correct time to take the toy away - Red Indicator. This is an example of a dog owner that did a good/correct job at taking the GoughNut away from the dog when red was indicated. Please realize that this amount of red is not more than 1/8 inch in size. The red clearly shows even though the indication size is quite small. Please use this example to realize that we do not want to see excessive damage before the toy is taken away. This GoughNut was well loved. This damage was made by an 100 pound blonde lab. Any time we get a toy back we are very happy in realizing that our patent pending "Chew Toy Safety Indicator" is working.

Sizing - This toy clearly is large enough for this great looking Guide Dog. Please make sure that the chew toy appears to be large in the dogs mouth.
